

A decorative border made of intricate red lace, featuring floral and geometric patterns, framing the central text and quote.

Heathcliff

"Whatever our souls are made of,
his and mine are the same."

The Heathcliff styles arrive in ivory and crimson lacing, restrained, then not. Blood Red, a single unwavering declaration.
And the British Toile, a windswept 19th-century landscape.

A Wuthering Heights-inspired mini collection.

Haunted. Devoted. Windswept.

She only learned how to dress for them.
